

CATHERINE BROOME, MD

Dr Broome is Professor of Medicine at Medstar Georgetown University's Lombardi Cancer Center. She is Board certified in Internal Medicine, Hematology and Medical Oncology.

Dr Broome's clinical practice focuses on adults with benign hematologic diagnoses.

She is an active teacher at the Georgetown University School of Medicine, where she also serves as a mentor to medical students through the Cura Personalis fellowship program.

Dr Broome's research interests include the role of complement in hematologic disorders including PNH, aHUS, cold agglutinin disease and others as well as the treatment of ITP and other autoimmune hematologic disorders.